

State of the Industry: Government Design in 2010

Tandus Flooring® is proud to begin our third year as the corporate sponsor and industry partner to the IIDA Government Forum. Government Forum members and interested guests are invited to attend the forum meeting at NeoCon in Chicago.

The guest speaker will be Mark Strauss, publisher of Interior Design magazine. Mark will discuss the unprecedented and newly released Universe Study landmark survey results of interior designers, architects and manufacturers and the insight it provides on trends and the Future of Design. Additionally, representatives of the military branches will be on hand to lead breakout sessions.

About the IIDA Government Forum:

The Government Forum enhances the quality of interior design in public and government facilities at the federal, state, city and local levels through professional advocacy, member services, and member interaction. Typically, a government designer works for the government in-house as a facility planner and designer, or may be a private interior designer working under contract for the government. The Government Forum provides a venue for discussion and exchange of knowledge related to government design.
